Title: The Magic Joke, Excerpt from Page 1

Word Count: 100

The king was unhappy, and for a very good reason. He had been at war with the kingdom next to his for over a year. He had expected to win easily, but alas, he was now losing the war. How it began was a matter of dispute and had been from the start. Each side blamed the other for starting it. Each side vowed it would never surrender.

The men and women of the king's court did their best to cheer him up. If there was a scrap of good news, they rushed to bring it to him at once.
